JOHN MACDONALD 1887-1972

John Macdonald, Professor Emeritus of Philosophy and former Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science, died June 27 in St. Joseph's Hospital after a lengthy illness. Dr. Macdonald was dean for seven years before his retirement in 1952. During that time he was instrumental in revising the arts program to give students a greater flexibility in choosing their courses. He was also considerably involved in the education of soldiers returned from World War II.

Born and educated in Perthshire, Scotland, Dr. Macdonald studied psychology and philosophy at the University of Edinburgh, where he received the degrees of MA and, some years later, in 1924, DLitt. He was a member of one of the first classes in experimental psychology in the English-speaking world. He was gold medalist in moral philosophy when he graduated.

Before the First World War, he was Assistant Professor of Philosophy at the University of Edinburgh, instructor at the George Heriot School for Boys and the Dundee High School, and Assistant Professor in Education at St. Andrew's University. During the war he served at Salonika Run with the Royal Field Artillery. After the war he was a lecturer in psychology at the University of Bristol.

He joined The University of Alberta in 1921 as Assistant Professor of Philosophy, at a time when philosophy, psychology, and education were combined into one department. He later became chairman of the department and from 1945 to 1952 was Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science.

He was a well-known scholar in the fields of social and educational philosophy and psychology. He has written a number of articles and books in this area, including: The Community: First Steps in Sociology (1938), The Expanding Community (1944), Mind, School and Civilization (1952), Understanding Yourself and Your Society (1962), A Philosophy of Education (1965), and The Discernible Teacher (1970).

He also wrote The History of The University of Alberta, 1908-1958 (1958).

GENERAL FACULTIES COUNCIL

By FOLIO Staff

The regular meeting of General Faculties Council was held Monday, June 26, 1972.

NEW RULING ON SERVICE COURSES

At the request of GEORGE EARLE, Time-Tabling Officer and a member of the Committee to Examine Course Changes, a motion was put and carried that all proposals to withdraw service courses must be approved by General Faculties Council.

In the past, any courses challenged by the Executive Committee of Council went directly to Council for debate; it was felt the same procedure should apply to courses challenged by the Committee to Examine Course Changes.

ADMISSION OF APPLICANTS FROM COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Council approved the following two recommendations put forth by the Admission Requirements Committee:

"THAT University preparatory programs

(Matriculation or Grade XII equivalent) in public and private colleges affiliated with Universities of the Province of Alberta or in the community colleges (as listed below) be accepted as a basis for admission to programs at the University, provided the applicants meet the requirements and present averages equivalent to those required of students writing Grade XII examinations.

"Colleges affiliated with The University of Alberta: Camrose Lutheran College, Canadian Union College, Concordia Lutheran College, Grande Prairie College, and Red Deer Regional College.

"Colleges affiliated with The University of Calgary: Mount Royal College and Medicine Hat College.

"THAT a student transferring to the University from a college that is authorized to give one year of university work be granted normally a maximum of one year of advanced credit; that a student transferring from a college that is authorized to give two years of university work be granted normally a maximum of two years of advanced credit."

In the case of Mount Royal College, a public affiliated college, the first recommendation applies only to its University of Calgary transfer program.

The committee also recommended extension of the first admission arrangement to Lethbridge Community College, which is no longer affiliated with this University since the college has ceased to offer those university-level courses now offered by The University of Lethbridge.

On the assumption that Grant MacEwan Community College will be offering university preparatory programs, the committee recommended that students of the college who have successfully completed a preparatory program as Grade XII equivalent be admitted, on an experimental basis, as probationary students.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESS COMMITTEE

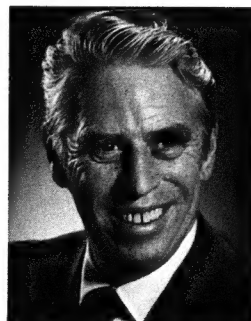

Members approved a proposal that the name of the Publications Committee be changed to The University Press Committee.

The committee's function is "to examine plans and policies for scholarly University publishing and to make corresponding recommendations to General Faculties Council, (and) to administer the affairs of The University of Alberta Press."

Changes in the composition of the com-

APPOINTMENT

JOHN FORSTER, Professor of Sociology here since 1968, has been named Associate Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, effective July 1, 1972. A native of New Zealand, Dr. Forster has written extensively about the social processes in his country and has served as consultant to various firms and agencies there. Much of his research also centered on Samoan immigrants to Hawaii, his thesis topic for his Master of Arts degree at the University of Hawaii. Teaching positions have taken him to Victoria University (New Zealand), Macalester College (St. Paul, Minnesota), and the Universities of Minnesota, Hawaii, and Calgary.

mittee also were approved, allowing the six elected members to be drawn from the University at large, rather than be restricted to faculty members and professional officers. The usual two-year term of the chairmanship will be one year if a student is elected, but the student may be re-elected for a second year.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Approval was given to the following proposal received from the School of Nursing Council:

"THAT it be recommended to General Faculties Council that the minimum average for Alberta Grade XII or equivalent henceforth be 65 per cent for admission of students to the four-year basic degree program in the School of Nursing."

NEW KIND OF CAMPER IN ALBERTA PARKS

In an active campaign to keep our province clean and green, the Department of Zoology is, this summer, sponsoring an "ecology caravan" that is touring provincial and national camp sites. It is manned by graduate student DAVE ELLIS, who gives an outdoor slide presentation aimed at educating campers in ways to combat pollution in Alberta.

The project originated last year with the University Women's Club Pollution Study Group, which conducted a similar program emphasizing the advantages of recycling paper. This year they approached JEAN LAUBER, Associate Professor of Zoology, and proposed that the department undertake an expended project. Funds from the department were made available to hire a graduate student, and the provincial Department of the Environment has provided up to $800 to help cover travelling expenses. An extensive slide collection had been accumulated by the University Women's Club. Some slides also were made available by the Director of Parks, T. A. DRINKWATER, who wrote letters of introduction for Mr. Ellis to all provincial park wardens.

Mr. Ellis's ecology caravan is not what one might liken to a Winnebago, or even a Coleman tent trailer. It's what one might call adequate, which in this case means a white 1965 Ford sedan (his own) and a green utility trailer purchased second-hand by the Department of Zoology. Mr. Ellis made three hinged plywood screens, painted them with white reflective paint, and mounted them, with hinges, to the trailer. His presentation includes 300 slides, with three slides being projected simultaneously in each of the sets of 100 slides. Mr. Ellis also carries a battery-powered tape recorder, and high-pitched sounds of children singing campfire songs accompany the slide show.

In selecting his slides, Mr. Ellis says he attempted to represent the balance of nature and the ways in which human intervention can change the environment. He chose slides of magazine and editorial cartoons, landscapes, animals, people camping, winter scenes, strip mining and industrial sites, and the use of resources.

"I am not saying that man should never intervene in the processes of nature," says Mr. Ellis of his presentation. "What he must do, however, is live in such a way that his resources are not abused or depleted."

Taking into account the weather we've been having, DAVE ELLIS has probably traded his shirt and tie for a sweater, mackintosh, and wading boots as he makes his rounds of campsites in the province. His "Alberta—clean and green" campaign is aimed, in part, at preserving the natural habitat of such shore birds as his friend, the western grebe.
